Designer storage systems a hit in Chch

Efficient storage design doesn't happen by itself. It is created by having a comprehensive understanding of the requirements for space within a home and what is needed to establish the ideal working and living environment.

This is where Beyond Storage comes in. Company director Monty McKeefry emphasises efficiency in design – the need to be able to find something when you want it, without turning your home into some sort of warehouse.

The work environment has changed over the years, with more people working from home – partly a result of improved communications – and this means a greater need for storage systems and working space. The Canterbury earthquakes have certainly contributed to this trend.

Beyond Storage is adept at providing well-designed storage systems for your home, whether it is in a garage, laundry, home office – practically anywhere. This means built-in bookshelves, cupboards, wardrobes and desks, and the utilisation of unused space.

As your home and your needs are unique Beyond Storage will visit you, assess, discuss, suggest and then design a system that is perfectly suited to your needs.

Naturally you will want storage that does not hamper the natural flow within your home and of course it will need to be aesthetically pleasing, to match your décor.

Monty himself, assisted by his wife Tracey McKeefry, specialises in wardrobe design, and has had many years experience in designing, building and installing storage options into new and existing premises. Customer service is a high priority and there is an emphasis on communication, in much the same way an architect will listen carefully to the way clients think about things before designing a home that will be an extension of their personalities and physical requirements.

"Our mission is to become the market leader in household storage solutions by providing quality products and exceptional service at all times to our clients," says Monty.

Keeping closely to budget is also important, and Beyond Storage undertakes work for a variety of builders and developers throughout Canterbury. Earthquake-damaged homes often require an innovative approach – for example the replacement of a chimney with a wardrobe, shelving or study nook. Sometimes walls even have to be removed and home owners are presented with unexpected challenges, and this is certainly where the design skills of Beyond Storage are very much appreciated.

"I wish to thank Monty and Tracey of Beyond Storage Ltd for their prompt and professional work at our brand new home in Pegasus. We were looking for that WOW factor in our plain bedrooms, walk-in wardrobe and garage-laundry area to enhance our property for resale. The small space in the laundry area is now transformed into a fully functional workstation, as well as making the originally dull area an aesthetic success. The improvements they suggested and implemented have made such a difference to our storage capacity. They went above and beyond to ensure the work was completed in record time and I found the quote to be completely affordable compared to other quotes received."
